Improved safety

More efficiency

Reduce damage

Better ergonomics

Advantages

Machines have become increasingly more advanced and capable. However people are still required to operate them. The operator of a large machine has limited visibility in his immediate vicinity. This is when damages occurs, either to the machine itself or to people or objects in its surroundings.

Good vision is essential to allow the work to progress smoothly. Orlaco vision solutions improve operational efficiency and the results are an immediate economic benefit.

The seating position in a vehicle is standard, assuming an operator is sitting straight up. Limited vision dictates he must often move into unnatural positions to be able to follow what is going on and this can lead to his injury.

A vision solution from Orlaco gives the operator the additional eyes he needs, regardless of the machine or the location in which the work is being performed.
